

Lecturer in Chemistry

The Department of Chemistry at the University of Georgia is seeking applications for a full-time, non-tenure track, Lecturer position to begin August 1, 2022. An earned doctorate degree in Chemistry is required. The lecturer will teach in the department's first and second-year programs and participate in service to the Department, School, and University. The position is a renewable 10-month appointment with the ability to work toward promotion to a senior lecturer.

The successful applicant will have a background teaching in both large and small classes utilizing active learning pedagogy. Competitive applicants will have a background working with diverse student populations. Excellent oral, written and interpersonal communication skills are essential. Strong applicants will have the ability to utilize technology in teaching and/or implementing online courses.

Candidates should electronically submit an application including a cover letter describing their interest and qualifications, a vita, a description of their teaching philosophy, and an equity, diversity and inclusion statement to <https://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/228175>. The name and contact information for three individuals, who will serve as references, is also required. Applicants who apply by December 6, 2021 will receive full consideration, and review of applications will continue until the position has been filled.

The University of Georgia (www.uga.edu) is a land and sea grant institution located 65 miles northeast of Atlanta (www.visitathensga.com). The Franklin College of Arts and Sciences, its many units, and the University of Georgia are committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and students, and sustaining a work and learning environment that is inclusive. Women, minorities and people with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.